

JOIN THE NATIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT WELLNESS COALITION

A nationwide community of practice helping you strengthen school wellness policies, programs, and practices, backed by Action for Healthy Kids.

TAKING ACTION FOR WHOLE CHILD HEALTH TOGETHER

The National School District Wellness Coalition (NSDWC) is a national community of practice for district health and wellness leaders to collaborate, share strategies, and strengthen their work in advancing whole child health. Members connect with peers, access practical tools, and turn the Whole School, Whole Community, Whole Child (WSCC) model into policies and practices that work.

OUR ACTION, YOUR ADVANTAGE

For over a decade, Action for Healthy Kids has united district leaders to promote healthier schools and better learning environments. We began in 2013 as the Urban School Wellness Coalition, connecting 33 of the largest districts in the country, and in 2020, we expanded to include districts of all sizes—urban, suburban, and rural. Today, the National School District Wellness Coalition is the only national community of practice dedicated to turning the Whole School, Whole Community, Whole Child (WSCC) model into practical policies and programs. When you join, you gain proven strategies, trusted relationships, and a community ready to support you in taking action for the health and success of every child.

OUR REACH

When you join, you become part of a powerful, growing network leading the future of student wellness nationwide.
